Programme

1. Why create an ORCID digital name identifier?
2. Settings of ORCID account
3. Add your biography
4. Add your works and build your ORCID record
 - A. Link to other system
 - B. Add with an Identifier
 - C. Upload a BibTex file
 - D. Add Manually
5. Add Peer review
6. Link ORCID to MyUnifr directory

1 - Why create an open digital identifier

- ✓ Be visible in a coherent manner and avoid any ambiguity for the author:
 - Homonymy: 29th Michael Meyer, 15th José Martin, 800th Wang Jing, ...
 - Different versions, full name/initials: Eliane A Mansour, EA Mansour
 - Names changes : Maria Garcia, Maria Garcia Hernandez, Maria Hernandez
- ✓ Avoids burden of re-entering : auto updates publications, projects, CVs, skills, etc.

1 - Why create an open digital identifier

- ✓ Academic Social Networks: Academia.edu, Researchgate, MyscienceWork
- ✓ Durability and free of charge not guaranteed in the long term
- ✓ Potential reuse of content and personal data
- ✓ Often poor quality of metadata

1 - Why create an open digital identifier

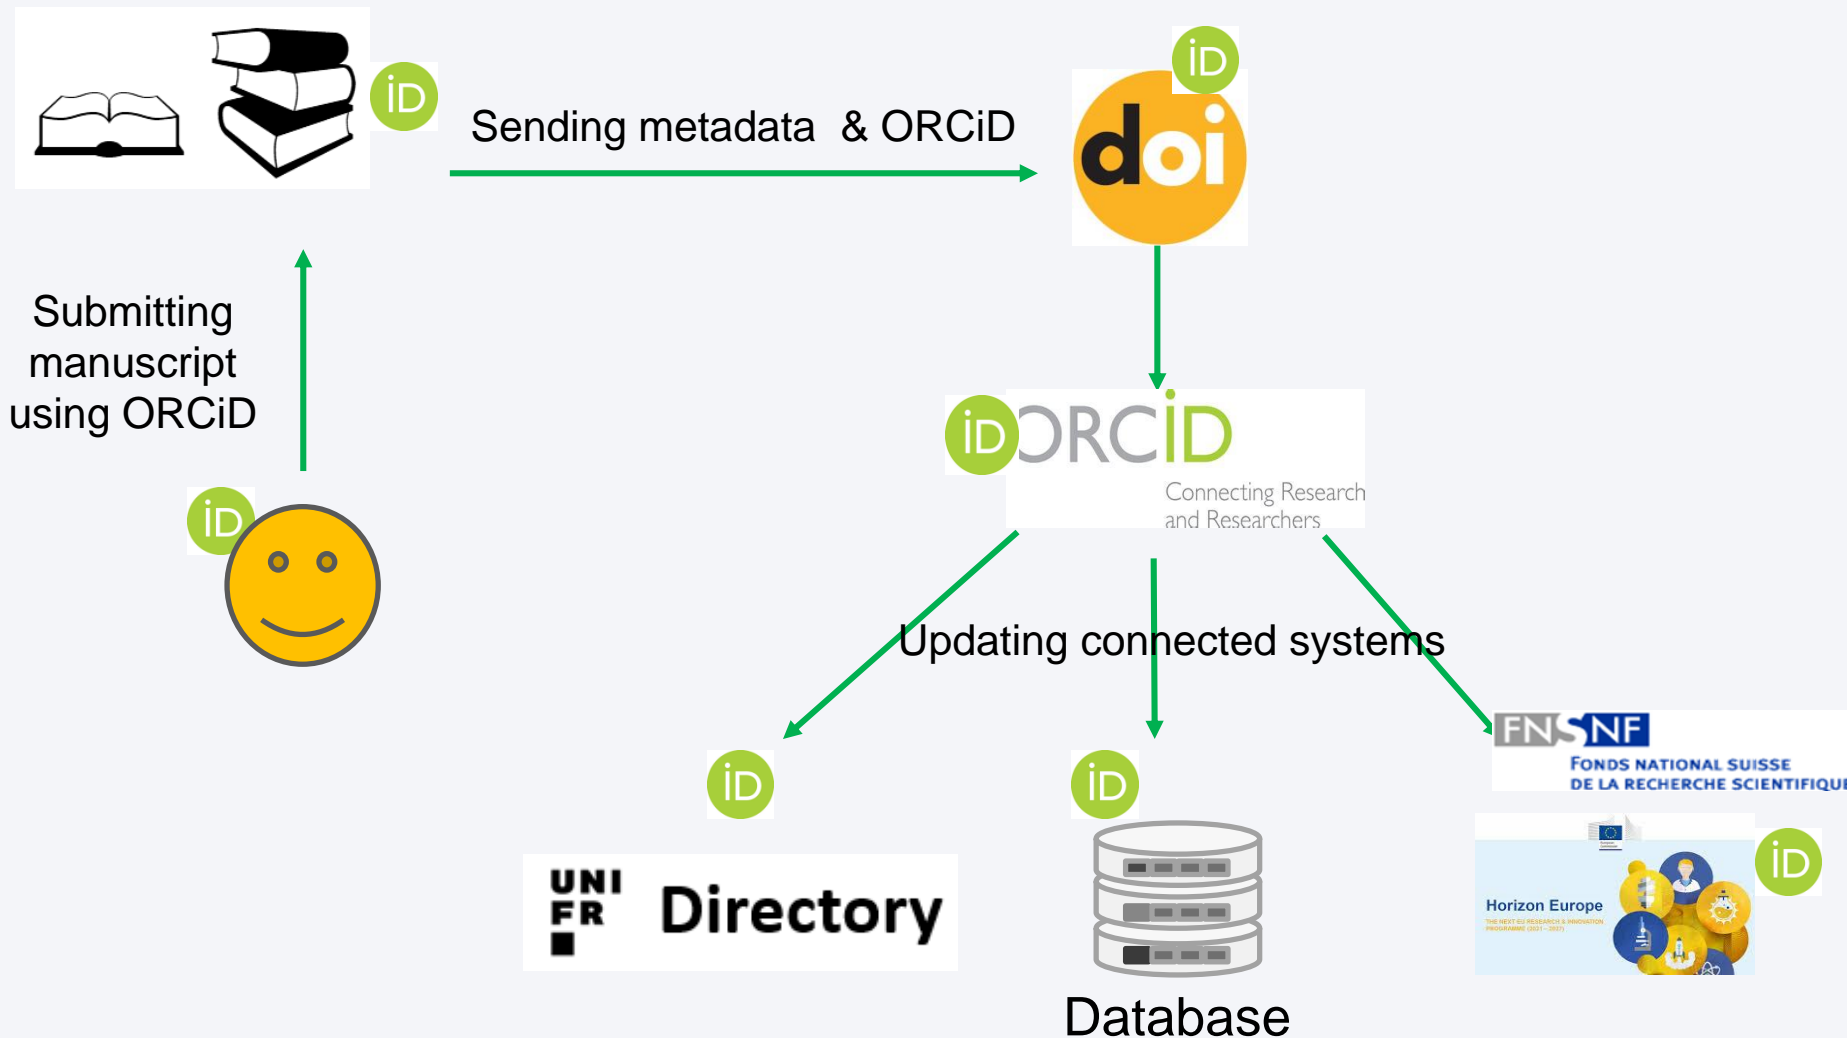

- ✓ International, interdisciplinary, open, non-proprietary, and not-for-profit organization
- ✓ ORCID is financially sustained by membership fees from organizational members (1'148 membres) : funders, publishers, repositories, research organizations,
- ✓ The ORCID iD is a 16-digit number (ex: 0000-00030166-248X) distinguishes you from other researchers, iD is portable and designed to be a career-long identifier
- ✓ ORCID integrates key research workflows, supports automatic links among all your professional activities : publications, projects funding, ...
- ✓ Ability to link ORCID to other identifiers : ISNI, Publons (Web of Science), Scopus author ID (Elsevier), Crossref Metadata Search, Europe PMC

The screenshot shows the ORCID website homepage. At the top left is the ORCID logo with the tagline "Connecting research and researchers". To the right, there is a "SIGN IN/REGISTER" link and a language dropdown menu set to "English". Below this is a search bar with a "Registry" dropdown and a search icon. A navigation bar contains links for "FOR RESEARCHERS", "FOR ORGANIZATIONS", "ABOUT", and "HELP". The main content area features a large green circle with "iD" and the headline "Distinguish yourself in three easy steps". Below the headline is a paragraph explaining the benefits of an ORCID ID. A blue button reads "FIND OUT MORE ABOUT OUR MISSION AND VALUES". At the bottom, three numbered steps are listed: 1. REGISTER, 2. USE YOUR ORCID ID, and 3. SHARE YOUR ORCID ID.

ORCID provides a persistent digital identifier (an ORCID ID) that you own and control, and that distinguishes you from every other researcher. You can connect your ID with your professional information — affiliations, grants, publications, peer review, and more. You can use your ID to share your information with other systems, ensuring you get recognition for all your contributions, saving you time and hassle, and reducing the risk of errors.

4 - Add your works to your ORCID record

Four ways to add works to your ORCID record:

A. Direct import from other systems :

- links your publications and other works to your ORCID record from other databases.

This is the recommended process : it reduces and eliminates errors, and enables a reliable connection between your ORCID iD and your works

B. Using an identifier

C. From a BibTeX file

D. Manually : should be the last option

5 – Add peer review

Reviews : journal articles and books, conference programs, grant award applications, and hiring, promotion, and tenure decisions.

- Data on your peer review activity cannot be added by you; only approved organizations can add this data using the ORCID API
- You must first have granted the organization and permission to update your ORCID profile ex: Publons
- If you have reviewed for journals that are not yet partnered with Publons, you can still add verified records to your profile.
 - Search your inbox for any “Thank you for reviewing” emails that journal editors have sent you.
 - Forward those emails to reviews@publons.com
 - Publons verifies these emails with the journal and adds the record to your profile
